Astm Methylene Blue Test For Activated Carbon Activated carbon products or materials such as catalytic activated carbon, activated carbon cloth and activated carbon impregnated paper may require specific ASTM test standards in the future. While many of the ASTM Activated Carbon Standards are used for production QC purposes and/or activated carbon comparisons and purchasing specifications, other standards and certifications are also utilized by the industry. Methylene blue number as useful indicator ... - ScienceDirect

Another indicator of the adsorptive capacity of activated carbon is the methylene blue number (MB N). This parameter is related to the macro- and mesopore capacity of activated carbon [1]. Unfortunately, there is no standardized testing procedure to assess or compare the adsorptive capacity of granular activated carbons (GACs), although two general methods are described in the literature.

ADSORPTION OF METHYLENE BLUE ONTO TREATED ACTIVATED CARBON

ADSORPTION OF METHYLENE BLUE ONTO TREATED ACTIVATED CARBON ... Adsorption of methylene blue (MB) on activated carbon was carried out using a bath experiments method in a rotary shaker at 150 rpm. The effect of contact time, solution pH and adsorbent dosage were investigated. The adsorption process was carried out with two different initial concentrations at 50 ppm and 100 ppm MB. The effect of ...
